

YOUR DICTIONARY

- to puff — пыхтеть
- turnip — репка
- to sigh — вздыхать
- to be scared to death — испугаться до смерти
- terrible — ужасный, страшный
- barely — едва
- to escape — спастись, убежать
- to take to one's heels — пуститься наутёк
- to exclaim — воскликнуть
- hedgehog — ёж

PUFF-PUFF

(Russian fairy tale)

Once upon a time there lived a grandfather, a grandmother and their little granddaughter Alyonushka. The grandfather went in a kitchen garden. He was going to pull out a big turnip when he heard a strange sound reaching from under a bush. "Puff-puff," someone sighed. The grandfather was scared to death. Having ran home, he said to the grandmother, "Oh! There is someone terrible under the bush. I have barely escaped!" "Well, I'll bring the turnip by myself," she replied. The grandmother was pulling the turnip when someone said, "Puff-puff." She took to her heels right away. Alyonushka saw that her grandparents were scared. "Dear grandmother and grandfather, I'll bring the turnip!" she exclaimed.

The girl went in the kitchen garden and heard that someone was puffing under the bush. She looked down and saw a little hedgehog. "Hello, Puff-Puff!" Alyonushka said. She pulled the turnip, took the hedgehog and went home.

As soon as she came back, the grandparents asked her, "Alyonushka, where is the terrible Puff-Puff?" The brave girl showed them the little hedgehog and answered, "Here he is!"

the mare hant

the

MONOTUKO

Three little pigs